Some types of lace trim feature a solid band along one side of the lace. Apply these by placing the solid band underneath the finished edge of the fabric so that only the lace is visible on the right side of the fabric. Sew the lace to the fabric through the solid band using a straight stitch with the stitch length selector set to one.

Lace Closure vs. Lace Frontal – What’s the Similarity? Both lace closures and frontals are great because they eliminate the need for leaving hair out and risk of heat damage. If you’re interested in getting a weave, a natural look is a must be! A lace closure or frontal is the perfect solution.

Lace Closure vs. Lace Frontal: What You Need To Know

Use a Microtex needle when sewing with lace. This is a super sharp needle that won’t snag fabric. I also use these needles for other fine or delicate fabrics. 2. Cut two pieces of fabric from each pattern piece: one from ponte and one from stretch lace. 3. Lay each piece of lace on top of ponte piece and smooth it out.
