Apple Push Notification service (APNs) is the centerpiece of the remote notifications feature. It is a robust, secure, and highly efficient service for app developers to propagate information to iOS (and, indirectly, watchOS), tvOS, and macOS devices.

Local and Remote Notification Programming Guide: APNs Overview

Location specific portal applets like Whereis are also affected. The cause of this problem is a little complex, but in essence, to access those sites your phone needs to connect through a proxy, and standard Android has issues with using proxies attached to APNs. This bug is (as far as I can tell) fixed for Desire, but not for standard Android.
