power my harmon kardon HKTS20 speakers. I noticed that on amazon the NR1602 and NR1403 (this years update of the lower model) are both $400, so I was wondering whether the NR1602 or the NR1403 would be better. Also I guess generally is this a good set up, or is the receiver overkill for those speakers?

The manual says to keep the sound mode on Auto - I don't like this. That means it will always play TV, etc in Stereo until it detects some dolby mode and then switch to it. The NR1602 has SEVERAL emulated sound sound flashing red on standby

Hi all, I bought a

Marantz 1602 at an auction "as is" and

unfortunately the unit turns on, but then

enters standby mode

and flashes red approx.

every 2 seconds, which

I understand indicates

it overheated for some reason.
