Specifically referring to its inability to do anything in the background. Synology blames it on iOS limitations, but moments doesn't live in a vacuum. Google photos work great in the background. I just setup PhotoSync as a moments upload alternative and it uploaded 3 thousand photos and 500 videos in the background over half an hour.

Quick fix. This problem occurs because the "network browse" has been disabled on Windows 10 v1709 and higher. Another problem can be that SMB 1.0/CIFS File Sharing Support has been deactivated on Windows 10, Windows 10 Fall Creators Update version 1709 and higher.
